

PSALM

79 Lord, the nations have invaded

Unison

Capo 1:

Em Am D G C B Em

1 Lord, the na - tions have in - vad - ed and at - tacked your her - i - tage;
 2 They have poured out blood like wa - ter all a - round Je - ru - sa - lem -
 3 LORD, how long? Will your dis - plea - sure still run on and nev - er tire?

Am D G C B Em

they de - filed your ho - ly tem - ple - crushed Je - ru - sa - lem in rage.
 bod - ies ev - ery - where, and no one to give bur - i - al to them.
 and how long your jeal - ous an - ger burn like all - con - sum - ing fire?

G Am D B Em Am B

They have given your peo - ple's bod - ies to the birds of prey as meat,
 We are ob - jects of de - ri - sion to the neigh - bours of our land;
 Pour your fu - ry on the na - tions that re - fuse to seek your face,

Em A D G C D<sup>7</sup> B Em E

and the corp - ses of your ser - vants to wild an - i - mals to eat.
 scorn, re - proach and deg - ra - da - tion cir - cle us on ev - ery hand.
 for they have up - root - ed Ja - cob and de - stroyed his dwell - ing place.

Text: Sing Psalms, © Psalmody Committee, Free Church of Scotland, 2003, alt.

Tune: Geistliche Volkslieder, Paderborn, 1850; harm. Paul Bunjes, 1982, © Concordia Publishing House, 1982, alt.;

used with permission; all rights reserved

87 87 D

O MEIN JESU

Lord, the nations have invaded

- 4 Charge us not with the transgressions
of our forebears long ago;
may your mercy come to meet us –
you have brought us very low.
Help us, Lord, our God and Saviour,
for the glory of your name.
For your name's sake come and save us;
take away our sin and shame.
- 5 Why should all the other nations
say to us, "Where is your God?"
Make the peoples know your vengeance
for your servants' outpoured blood.
May the groans of every prisoner
come before your throne on high;
by your arm outstretched in power
save all those condemned to die.
- 6 Lord, remember how our neighbours
treat you with contempt and scorn;
and into their laps deliver sevenfold judgment in return.
Then shall we, the sheep you pasture,
worship and adore your name,
and through every generation
your unending praise proclaim.