

92 How good it is to thank the LORD

1 How good it is to thank the LORD, to praise your name with 2 O LORD, my song with joy ex-pands be-fore the won-ders
 3 Though as the grass the wick-ed grow, those e-vil-do-ers tune-ful chord, to show your love with morn-ing light and of your hands. How great the works that you have wrought; how do not know the end-less ru-in they will see. But tell your faith-ful-ness each night. Yes, it is good your deep, O LORD, your ev-ery thought! A fool-ish man knows GOD will reign e-ter-nal-ly. All foes will fall be-praise to sing, and all our sweet-est mu-sic bring.

 not their worth, nor he whose mind is of the earth.
 fore his might; the wick-ed shall be put to flight.

4 O LORD, you have exalted me
 with royal strength and dignity.
 With your anointing I am blest;
 your grace and favour on me rest.
 My eyes have seen the wicked die;
 my ears have heard their hopeless cry.

5 The righteous all will flourish well and in the house of God will dwell.
 They will be planted like a tree, will still in old age fruitful be.
 The LORD our God is upright, just;
 he is my rock; in him I trust.
